Council boss blasted

Report damns chief John Best and rest of school build leadership team

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes Council chief executive John Best has been heavily criticised in a damning second report on the council's school build programme.

The independent review commissioned by council leader Isobel McCall tears the corporate leadership team (CLT) – including the chief executive and the director of learning and development, Vanessa Gwynn, to shreds.

The CLT consists of Mr Best, three corporate directors and two assistant chief executives.

At yesterday's press conference Cllr McCall refused to say whether she had full confidence in the chief executive.

She added she would not be surprised if serious disciplinary action is taken against members of the CLT.

The scathing report follows Monday's resignation by Cllr Euan Henderson, cabinet member with responsibility for school buildings. He left his post stating: "As this programme has been part of my cabinet portfolio since 2002, the ultimate responsibility for its leadership is mine, and I am therefore offering my resignation from the cabinet."

It is unsure whether there will be any more resignations although a panel was being set up last night to deal with staffing issues arising from the review.

The latest report, which focuses on senior management practices, was carried out by Solace Enterpises' senior associate, Richard Penn, after an internal review in December highlighted major weaknesses in the school build programme.

Last year Giles Brook School in Tattenhoe was forced to close after the ceiling threatened to cave in.

Concerns were originally raised with the council in 2003 but the school did not close until 2006.

The new report says: "Individual members of CLT should have been more and increasingly aware of the issues with the school build programme and... should have been more active and taken appropriate action in line with the requirements of their roles as set out in job profiles/descriptions.

"I read and heard of many examples where the chief executive was seen by members, officers, school heads, governers, and the local MP to have been less than engaged with the emerging problems with the school build programme, where direct approaches to him to resolve serious issues were 'brushed aside' and where he did not take the kind of decisive action – described colloquially as 'knocking heads together' – expected of the head of a paid service when the situation demanded it. The view was expressed to me consistently by the leader and other cabinet members that the chief executive has been insufficiently engaged with the wider council agenda, particularly in respect of education and personal social services."

The council leader said she discussed the need to focus on the school build programme with chief executive John Best during his annual appraisal.

Asked whether she was happy with the performance of the CLT she said: "I think this report flags up some serious issues that we need to look at in the next few weeks."

The report points to one member of the CLT who said in an interview with Mr Penn: "We are not corporate, nor a team and there is little leadership."

The report reveals that cabinet members agreed to establish a school build programme board to assist the high-risk programme's management when Brian Sandom, director of environment, proposed it in July 2005.

Plumbers set fire to bungalow roof

A BUNGALOW roof went up in flames as plumbers were working on a boiler system.

Fire services were called to the one-bedroom council property in Langdale Close, Bletchley, at 12.55pm yesterday after the roof caught fire while the owner, Alan Clark, was inside.

Luckily his wife was out shopping but Mr Clark rushed to evacuate his pet dog and bird from the bungalow before the fire spread.

Heating and plumbing specialists, Wheldon Contracts and Services Ltd, were working inside the home at the time.

Doris Langley, who lives opposite, said: "Alan said they were taking the boiler out to be re-done.

"He said there was an almighty bang and it just went up. I saw all the smoke and then all the flames shooting up over the roof."

A source told MK NEWS a plumber had been soldering pipes in the roof before the fire started.

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Council said: "We would like to apologise for the problems caused to our tenant when our contractors were working in the roof space and the felt caught fire.

"Arrangements are being made to rehouse the tenant while the property is being repaired and council officers will be carrying out an investigation ."

When asked if they would like to comment, a spokesman for Wheldon Contracts and Services Ltd said: "We don't give comments I'm afraid."

Three fire engines attended from Bletchley, Great Holm and Broughton and four firemen, using breathing apparatus, tackled the blaze.

A support vehicle from the Red Cross was called to provide temporary shelter for the Clarkes.

Pensioner tells of handbag mugging

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A PENSIONER has spoken of her terrifying experience at the hands of a boy who robbed her.

The 74-year-old woman was dragged along the ground in a Bletchley car park by a boy aged between 12 and 16 who stole her handbag.

The victim, who asked to remain anonymous, said she is haunted by the memory of the attack.

She told MK NEWS: "I was absolutely terrified. I was in such a state I couldn't even stand. What if this happened to this young boy's grandmother? How would he feel?

"The thought of him creeping up behind me is inprinted on my brain."

The pensioner had been out for a Chinese meal with her husband and was walking back to their car opposite Bletchley Leisure Centre at around 8.30pm on Thursday, February 7.

She described how she saw the boy as they passed a dark alley, unaware that he was about to mug her: "He was wearing a flimsy grey hoody and it was a bitterly cold night – I thought he looked freezing," she said.

"My husband went to the driver's side and suddenly he came up behind me and pulled and pulled at my bag. He pulled me along the ground and I was screaming."

Her 74-year-old husband ran after the boy while a passer-by helped the woman to her feet and called the police.

The victim, who underwent knee replacement surgery last year, was left with bruises to the side of her body, legs and feet.

Her handbag, a Christmas present, contained £76 from her pension, house keys and a bus pass displaying her address.

DC Richard Jones said: "It might be that the offender has mentioned the robbery to his friends or associates and I would like to appeal to anyone with any information to come forward.

"I hope they can appreciate the effect these type of incidents have on the victims, especially the elderly, and will help us find the thief and bring him to justice."

■ DC Jones can be contacted via the Police Enquiry Centre on 08458 505505.

FROM FRONT PAGE

There were delays in setting it up. It met opposition from Cllr Henderson and Vanessa Gwynn, and Mr Best failed to 'champion' it. The board did not have its first meeting until April 2007.

The report adds: 'Despite clear political support from the leader and the bulk of the cabinet, the initiative is stifled and delayed'.

It also criticised the way Mr Best had dealt with the conflict over the board, saying: 'The question has to be asked as to why the chief exectutive, regardless of personal style preference, did not see it as his clear organisational responsibility to intervene'.

Vanessa Gwynn is accused of failing to implement rigorous governance arrangements, and the report says: 'I have received no clear explanation of the director's apparent lack of proactivity in addressing the major organisational problems associated with the school build programme'.

The report listed a series of improvements to be made by the council, to the role and function of the CLT, to the role and behaviour of the chief executive, and to the relationship between the CLT and the cabinet.

Last night the cabinet was expected to allocate more money to Giles Brook School to rectify remaining problems with the building.

Mr Best declined to comment.

No right to fight London's waste

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

Council has no power to stop capital's rubbish ending up in Newton Longville

MILTON Keynes Council is misleading people by saying it will fight to stop London waste coming to Milton Keynes, says a local MP.

Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West, said the council has no power to stop the landfill owner at Newton Longville from taking waste from anywhere it likes, including London.

A cabinet recommendation calling for the council to state that it will not be coerced into receiving London waste as landfill was passed unanimously by full council last Tuesday (February 12).

It states that the council will 'continue to seek to persuade the Government that London waste is best disposed of in London and not in Milton Keynes' and will call upon Dr Starkey to support the campaign.

An inspector's report, on behalf of the Government, on Milton Keynes Council's draft Waste Development Plan document (WDPD) has required the council to include details of how it will make specific provision to take 10 per cent of London's residual waste – 160,000 tonnes every year – in line with the South East Plan.

Councillors say this is not environmentally sustainable and priority should be given to local waste.

However, the council has adopted the WDPD, as amended by the inspector's binding report, in line with regulations.

Dr Starkey said: "London waste is currently sent to Newton Longville and a number of other landfill sites around the South East, the inspector's decision simply recognises this fact.

"The only way to deal with the problem is for London to stop exporting its waste to the wider South East.

"London's mayor is committed to reducing London's waste to landfill and is trying to get the London boroughs to co-operate."

She has been pressing Parliament to support the mayor and give him the powers to control and reduce the disposal of London's waste to landfill, including at Newton Longville.

"If Milton Keynes Council want to do the same they should talk to those boroughs controlled by Lib Dem councils and ask them to stop exporting their waste problems to Milton Keynes," she added.

Douglas McCall, cabinet member for the environment, denies Dr Starkey's accusations that the council is misleading residents.

"We have made it very clear that the inspectors report is binding and that the council can't stop London's waste coming to MK, but that doesn't mean to say that we like the idea," he said.

"It is disappointing that Dr Starkey appears to be trying to make cheap party political points rather than working with the council for the benefit of MK residents. Our point is that London should be doing more to deal with its own waste and shouldn't be shipping it 50 miles up the M1 to Milton Keynes.

"We will not only be writing to Government ministers, but obviously we want to work with the mayor of London on this issue."

Local tippers forced out by increased prices

LOCAL tippers are being priced out of the market as the Newton Longville landfill site takes more London waste.

This is the fear of the owner of a small haulage company who can no longer afford to use the site after it recently upped its prices.

The haulier, who collects waste from small developments such as conservatories and extensions, has used the site for years.

He said the landfill site, owned by Waste Recycling Group (WRG), used to charge around £4 per tonne but has increased this to £7.

"They are charging an extortionate price so that we have to take our loads to Northamptonshire or Bedford," said the haulier, who wishes to remain anonymous.

"They are pricing us out of the market as they can get a ridiculous profit for taking London rubbish. They don't want us there."

He added that the raised prices are forcing lorries to travel further and could lead to more fly tipping.

A spokesman for WRG said the recent price increases have been unavoidable due to the current pressures on the market, especially as landfill space is declining.

An estimated increase of around 100,000 tonnes of waste per month is already being taken to Newton Longville after the closure of the Brogborough site earlier this year.

Prison officer tried to supply inmates drugs

A PRISON Officer has pleaded guilty to attempting to supply drugs to inmates at Woodhill.

Adam Seamark, 25, from Ruskin Way, Daventry, Northants, was arrested at the prison last December.

He appeared at Reading Crown Court yesterday (Tuesday, February 19) and pleaded guilty to four charges of attempting to supply controlled drugs including heroine, cocaine and steroids.

He also pleaded guilty to possession of anabolic steroids with intent to supply and misconduct in a public office between August 1 and December 13, 2007.

He pleaded not guilty to two charges of supplying heroine and cocaine.

Mr Seamark has been remanded in custody until April, when he will be sentenced.

Since his arrest the governor of Woodhill has declared war on drugs inside the jail saying: "I want to make it very clear to prisoners and to staff that drugs are not and will not be tolerated within this prison."

Sport Minister Gerry Sutcliffe MP takes on Gail Emms at the National Badminton Centre

Game's a tie

A GOVERNMENT minister was challenged to a game of badminton when he visited Milton Keynes yesterday.

Gerry Sutcliffe, MP for Culture Media and Sport, was in town to promote a Government programme to develop adventure playgrounds but a visit to The National Badminton Centre in Loughton sparked a surprise clash.

Local Olympic hopeful Gail Emms enjoyed a game with the minister, who kept his tie on for the challenge.

The visit began with a tour of the Spider Park at Fullers Slade.

St Christophers' staff don't tell it like it is

SIR – I was interested to read the 'Home for young homeless under fire from locals' article in this week's MK NEWS.

I have to say I was somewhat irate to see Roy O'Shaughnessy's comments which were to be honest, par for the course for him and all the rest of his inept, blinkered and goody-goody staff.

St Christopher's will always tell you that either a) they don't know about it, b) it happened away from the property or c) it was not the residents but their guests.

We attended a meeting set up to address the concerns of the residents at which St Christopher's rolled out three of their best residents and then gave us an account of how the two trouble-makers had left the hostel and that they had introduced a three-tier system of discipline and other pointless disciplinary procedures which make no difference to the life of the residents.

This is the only meeting I have attended. I know there is one I have missed and that was due to the fact the notification arrived the day before the meeting.

When the marvellous Roy tells you that he is not aware of any issues in the last 4-6 months, I assume he was wearing his Teflon suit and was saying that nothing had been proven.

As for contacting him, what for? You will just get a), b), c) or a combination.

I am sick to the back teeth of the rubbish that is spouted by the holier-than-thou individuals from St Christopher's.

This place is nothing more than an open prison for yobs.

If the police had been called to my house 22 times in 10 months I would have ASBO after ASBO, and could possibly be serving a custodial sentence.

Name and address supplied

■ SIR – My wife too has seen drug-selling activity by the residents of Windrush House.

She has witnessed a service user going in and out of the building and exchanging items underneath the Pennylands underpass.

She has witnessed this with her own eyes in broad daylight.

It is almost inconceivable to us that we should have to deal with the goings-on of this facility on a daily basis and has us asking ourselves 'what did we ever do to deserve this?'.

There was once a field inhabited by foxes before this institution was built, it is now inhabited by primates.

It is shameful that people in high office can make decisions that impact our lives so detrimentally.

Before this institute for the behaviourally challenged was built we led quiet and enjoyable lives.

We now constantly, and I mean this honestly, live in fear of the next set of events that will unfold from Windrush Close.

You only have to look at the national press to see reports of honest, law-abiding fathers etc, being kicked to death on their doorsteps by the ASBO generation – St Christopher's has built a barracks for just this type of person on our doorsteps.

It seems that most types of law breaking is covered by this facility and St Christopher's look the other way.

There are no two ways about it, the place and the idea is a failure, they are compromising the quality of life of all of the local residents to protect the rights of their 'service users' to behave like animals.

Name and address supplied

■ SIR – Nice to know that the police are trying to tackle under-age drinking.

Unfortunately when you have retailers like Tesco at Shenley Brook End place all their alcohol by the door it doesn't take long for the youths to get their drink again.

I have witnessed youths grabbing crates of 24 cans or bottles and running out the door. The shop's policy for staff is to not try and stop them.

Then you have to look at the mess the youths create where they steal the booze, and other things, run around the back of Gayal Croft and dump all there rubbish there.

Last year we had to call the fire brigade out where youths had stolen cans of hairspray and lit a fire and put the cans on top.

The youths can be seen most nights drinking in the underpass between Shenley Brook and Shenley Lodge but you never see the police.

A security camera was installed outside Tesco's but it's at such a height the kids just push it to face the sky.

Make a stand over under-age drinkers

SIR – Re 'Operation Disrupt sees cops tackling under-age drinkers'.

I think it's great that at last something is being done about under-age smoking and drinking, not before time.

I would also like to point out that this behaviour also happens on a regular basis in Newport Pagnell.

My house in situated backing onto Riverside Meadow and last Friday evening, starting around 7.30pm, 15-20 girls as well as boys were in the meadow and their behaviour was obviously drink-related.

The girls were screaming and swearing and also the boys language was also disgusting.

This noise went on until around 11.45pm.

I had my grandson staying with me and he was unable to get to sleep because of the noise, so how about keeping a check in this area so as we don't have to put up with this all summer?

It's time to make a stand and be proud of our home town and be comfortable in our environment.

Death off the grid

SIR – MK Observatory publish pedestrian casualty rates for MK, and national figures, on behalf of the council.

These show that MK has a much lower pedestrian casualty rate than the rest of the UK.

Now we can predict the casualty rates for the new expansion areas?

The western expansion area will have a population of about 20 000.

With the current design, which has no grid roads, pedestrian casualties will be at the national average of at least 11 and possibly up to 16 every year.

However, if the WEA had grid roads, there would be seven or fewer pedestrian casualties every year.

Grid roads would have the effect of halving pedestrian casualties, which are mostly the elderly and children.

These figures will be doubled for MK, as the eastern expansion area also lacks grid roads.

It would be criminal not to take measures to save injury or death to so many pedestrians every year.

Grid roads obviously benefit pedestrians, as well as the city's motorists, and nobody loses.

Rabbit Rambo

SIR – Rarely have I read such an offensive and bigoted letter as the one written by Bob Carder last week.

Who does this arrogant man think he is?

The way he has attacked the valid views of Mrs Burke is appalling.

Surely if you rent an allotment you must know wildlife will try and eat your produce.

The sensible thing to do is to try to make your allotment as secure as you can.

How can a rabbit differentiate between an allotment and a field?

As Mr Carder points out, rabbits have been here since Roman times, I wonder if he can trace his ancestry back that far?

Wildlife has just as much right to live in peace as we humans who have encroached on their territory.

One can only hope this self-styled Rambo chokes on a rabbit bone once day – that would be true justice.

Watery send-off for Dave the Fish

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A FISH-SHAPED wreath together with a man's ashes were floated down the River Ouzel on Sunday.

It was for 58-year-old Springfield resident David Bailey, a former MK Angling Club bailiff, who died from liver cancer at Willen Hopsice on February 5.

Mr Bailey, known locally as Dave the Fish, had requested no funeral or formalities.

But not content with not giving him a good send off, his friends arranged to have a wreath made in the shape of a fish.

On Sunday morning around 40 pals gathered at the ancient moat site on the banks of the Ouzel near Woolstone cricket ground – where Mr Bailey used to fish – to say a final farewell.

His cremated remains were scattered into the waters during a simple ceremony.

Villagers Ian and Kay White invited Dave's friends and Kay read a poetic tribute to the former Rhodesian soldier who had settled in a canalside flat in Springfield after serving in what is now Zimbabwe.

But there was a final twist in the story for Dave the Fish, whose tales of the riverbank amused regulars at the Barge Inn for many years. As the wreath was cast into the water, it turned upside down and floated away.

One droll observer said:"It was modelled on a cod, so that was Dave's way of saying it should have been a carp."

Council house rent rise approved

THE rent of 12,000 council houses is to rise by more than three per cent, despite protests from residents' associations.

Milton Keynes Council has decided to increase the average rent by 3.25 per cent in April to meet the Goverment's new average weekly rent target level of more than £75 by 2011/12.

The increase means approximately an extra £2.23 for each house per week and would provide an extra £1.5million for the council's housing revenue account.

Some tenants objected to the proposals as they feel the service is poor, repairs are not carried out and that the rise would be unaffordable.

Bradville North End Residents' Association also claimed the council's consultation on the plans was biased.

The council claims an increase is necessary to meet rising costs.

The changes were approved at full council at their meeting last Tuesday (February 12).

The plans also include an increase of shared ownership rents of 2.86 per cent for 2008/09.

Rabbit-proof defence

SIR – In reply to Mr B Carder's letter 'Contraceptive pellet'.

We, Ms Burke and myself, Paula, are so glad to be able to give one of your readers a good laugh, especially in these days of doom and gloom.

This is the typical response we expected of a person that wishes to justify the fact that he has the mentality of a thug by shooting rabbits and pigeons.

Every person that works an allotment will be 'working their nuts off' and I can assure you that we have worked just as hard.

I have yet to see these rabbits coming onto the allotment with a shopping trolley taking all the produce. What next, may one ask, shooting the songbirds that are damaging the crops?

We are getting more and more like America every day, if it gets in the way, gee, we'll shoot it.

We are bombarded on the news every day with the carrying of guns, knives and other various weapons by different generations, being against the law.

Hey! It's OK for Mr Carder to go out and shoot the wildlife in Britain because he can call it vermin control.

Well, Mr Carder, there are larger animals, with two legs, that need controlling – now we know who to call.

'Get in the real world women. These things happen every day'. Mr Carder must be aware that bullying at school and wife beating goes on every day so, according to him, should we accept that as well?

Also, as a point of interest, we are very much against battery farming and experiments on animals as someone has to try to defend them.

Casino slot

SIR – I totally disagree with city MP Mark Lancaster's' suggestion that the proposed casino in Milton Keynes should not located in central Milton Keynes' Xscape building.

This will be an ideal place since it will be located in a leisure and entertainment area.

I do not think a casino will affect the popular drinking area since gambling and drinking go together as leisure activities for some people.

It is daft on the part of Mr Lancaster to suggest that the casino should be located near MK Dons' stadium.

MK Dons football matches attract more than 9,000 supporters who include a large number of young people.

In addition ASDA and IKEA are located very close to the stadium and they are open late at night.

Shoppers take their children for shopping. Young children should not exposed to gambling at a very early age.

In addition stadium is used for social functions in the evening where family members attend. The same thing applies to Milton Keynes Bowl.

I do not think that a casino in Milton Keynes is going to be beneficial in terms of regeneration and creation of jobs.

It will make some sections of the community poorer and lead to social problems since gambling is an addiction and only the owners of the casino will make money without any investment – apart from installing some machines and employing some workers.

Turned down flat

SIR – I read with interest, Mrs L Thomas's letter regarding her daughters' housing problem.

Our daughter and her family are in the reverse situation – we could write a book, but I will endeavour to keep it short.

They live in a one-bedroom, first-floor flat, with their two young children.

MK Council told them that when their first baby was three-months old, they would be moved.

He is three-years-old in May.

As the bedroom was too small to accommodate their bed, a single bed and cot etc, they have swapped bedroom for lounge, and now have a bedroom/kitchen.

According to the MK housing officer, this is quite acceptable, as how they live within the flat is 'their choice'.

The three-year-old has severe eczema, and wakes screaming every two hours or so thus waking the baby, who, I may add, spends most of her waking moments either in her cot or in her bouncer, as there is no room for her to crawl.

Across the road from them are two boarded-up houses, a three-bedroom and a four- bedroom – just sitting there EMPTY.

Both these young people are working and trying very hard to support themselves and their little ones.

At the suggestion of the housing officer, they have looked into privately-rented property and also shared ownership, both of which they can ill-afford.

I find it baffling that quite a few of their friends who are not working and living on benefits, manage to be allocated 3-4 bedroom houses in MK – or private rent and have most of it paid for them.

Should these two young people give up their jobs, take the easy option, and live off benefits in order to be re-housed?

Because it seems to me that anyone who tries to help themselves, gets nothing!

We, and my daughter's partner's family, like Mrs Thomas, have lived in MK since 1969 and have watched it grow from a few villages to a substantial city.

Milton Keynes – the place to be?

I don't think so now!

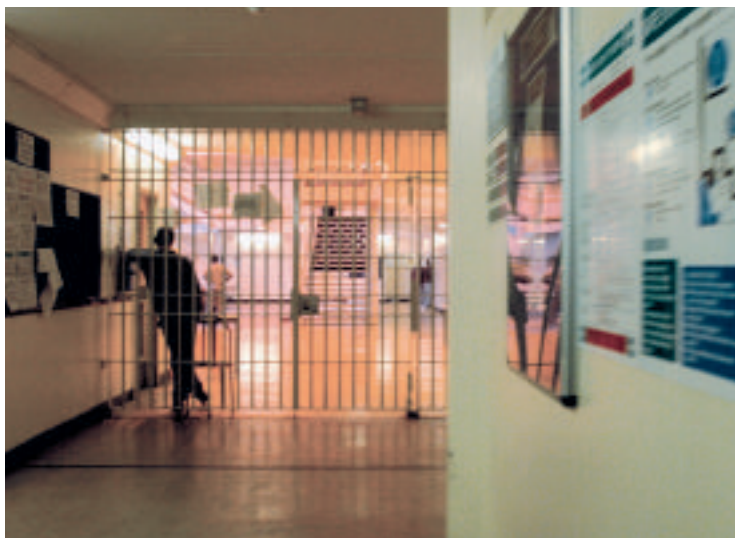
Report gives top marks to bug jail

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk



THE prison at the centre of a bugging scandal has seen improvements according to a new report.

In the HM Chief Inspector of Prisons report published last week the inspector, Anne Owers, said she found 'a very different prison' during her visit to Woodhill in September 2007.

The prison has been under the spotlight this month since a former police officer admitted bugging an MP at the prison.

After the last inspection in 2005, the prison on Tattenhoe Street was assessed as performing poorly against three out of four tests of a healthy prison, which include safety, respect, purposeful activity and resettlement of inmates.

Mrs Owers said the inspection was 'depressing and disappointing'.

"We found a prison with disengaged staff and out-of-touch managers, operating within an estate that focused primarily on the small number of high risk prisoners it held," she said.

However, with a new management team and a new director of high security the prison has seen a turn-around.

"Woodhill remains a complex prison, but this inspection found that its complexity was now being well and appropriately managed," said Mrs Owers.

"This had resulted in improvements against all our healthy prison tests and, in some areas – safety and resettlement – these were significant."

She said the poor quality of healthcare and lack of activities, such as work or education, at the prison were the two principal remaining areas of concern.

"Nevertheless, overall, managers and staff are to be congratulated on the change of approach and outcome that has been achieved in a relatively short time and, on their plans to embed and carry forward these improvements," she concluded.

Woodhill governor Luke Serjeant said: "I am pleased that the chief inspector has noted the significant progress made in a short period of time.

"It is a credit to all of my staff and managers that they have changed the way in which this prison is regarded.

"We are all now very proud of Woodhill and of the part we play in protecting the public.

"We recognise that there are still areas in which we can improve and are already implementing plans to address some of the issues raised during the Inspection."

It is a credit to all of my staff and managers that they have changed the way in which this prison is regarded

Facebook tribute group is set up for lake death man

FRIENDS of the man whose body was found in Tongwell Lake have set up a Facebook group in memory of him.

David Dudden, 22, of Maulden Gardens, Giffard Park, was found floating in the water by an office worker who was on his lunch break at around 1.30pm on Monday, February 11 and police were called immediately.

Thames Valley Police's specialist search and recovery team arrived at the scene on the office estate just after 5pm.

By 9.30pm on the Tuesday night, his friends had set up a group on the online networking site called 'R.I.P David Dudden 25/09/1985 - 11/02/2008'.

Tributes are flooding in to the young man, who went to Denbigh School and had worked at Wetherspoons in central Milton Keynes.

Friends, colleagues and old school friends have joined the group.

Nathan Gallavan wrote on his page: "I can't believe you're really gone.

"I'll always remember the good times, rest in piece (sic) mate. Love Nath."

Local police officers look on as specialist underwater officers remove David Dudden's body from Tongwell lake

Warren Weatherley wrote: "You was (sic) a top mate trips to Ibiza, Newquay and of course Highbury will never forget you it wont be the same with out you miss you so much."

Laura Piper said: "Top guy always made you laugh. Sweet dreams in heaven, I hope you make the angels laugh just as much as you did for all of us at school."

Some have added photos of Mr Dudden, whose own page says he likes indie rock and roll music and in particular Oasis. He loved Top Gear, Family Guy and Men Behaving Badly, and liked sport.

Karen Southerby-Smith wrote: "Taken from us all way too young, RIP."

A post mortem took place last week.

Iron tree 'grows' in Theatre District

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A TREE Of Life has taken root at the Theatre District in the spot previously occupied by the world's largest mobile ferris wheel.

The metal sculpture – known as ATOL, short for A Tree Of Life – has been placed on a temporary basis because the land is to be developed on.

It represents the city's ongoing growth.

Local artist and businessman Philip Pauley designed the tree, which is the first sculpture in a series of artworks based around the natural world.

Philip has built a business around interacting with nature, Pauley Landscapes, and this is his second project on the Theatre District.

Last year he successfully created and installed a science-themed garden in celebration of the MK's 40th summer birthday party and Milton Keynes's first science fair.

Sara Mills, marketing manager for the Theatre District said: 'Although this space is temporary, it is great for our outdoor environment to be used to display such a wonderful piece of art, and we would love to see a sculpture garden grow around ATOL.

"The metal tree is meant to represent growth and is particularly apt considering the development of Milton Keynes.'

The artist is currently offering the sculpture for sale to help raise funds for his next public art project and forthcoming exhibition, for more details e-mail info@pauleylandscapres.co.uk.

For further information visit www.theatre-district.co.uk If you are a local artist or school who would like to create / display an appropriate piece of art on the Theatre District, please contact sara.mills@theatre-district.co.uk

Council to keep 'Litter Busters' after council tax consultation

THE council's music service and the 'Litter Busters' scheme have been saved due to public demand.

Initial plans to make savings on the music service – which provides subsidised teaching for schoolchildren – cut the library book fund and slash the Litter Busters team have been altered.

But the suggested council tax rise remains at 3.9 per cent.

Following extensive public consultation it has been proposed that additional money will be spent on tackling anti-social behaviour with the addition of two more community safety wardens.

The public has also asked for more funding for youth services, for raising educational standards at GCSE level in lower performing schools, and for extra resources to deal with flood prevention.

In addition the people of Milton Keynes have asked for extra money to be spent on support for the Bletchley to Bedford railway line, regeneration, and enforcement of houses in multiple occupation.

The cabinet has proposed to spend a further £900,000 in these areas.

Cllr Isobel McCall, council leader said: "The Lib Dems have listened to the public and are removing the cut to the book fund and reducing the savings on the music service.

"Since we started the budget consultation the Government has announced that it is investing more money in our music service. We will be matching the Government's funding.

"The music service is clearly valued by a number of residents."

Alternative proposals from the Conservative and Labour groups were included in the consultation, to reflect the political balance on the council.

Cllr McCall added: "I am delighted there is overall support for all the Lib Dem proposals for additional investment.

"We will be including them all in our final budget.

"These include more money to tackle anti-social behaviour, and to keep the Litter Busters scheme running.

"There was public concern about savings on the library book fund and the music service.

""The public have given a clear message that they want to see more investment in community safety, and in working with young people."

The final budget, including council tax levels, was due to be proposed by the Cabinet last night (February 19) and agreed by full council on February 26.

■ A FIVE per cent council tax rise - equivalent to an extra £2.62 a year for a band D council tax payer - was approved by Buckinghamshire & Milton Keynes Fire Authority on Friday.

A band D council tax payer will now pay £54.95 towards services provided by Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service from April 2008 to March 2009.

The fire authority receives about 4p in every pound of your council tax bill. The rest pays for council and police services.

Fans join players in England kit launch

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

TWO England fans had the chance to stand with players from the England football team as Fabio Capello unveiled the new Umbro England kit.

Paul Calnan, 27, of Shearmans, Fullers Slade and Ian King, 31, of Clifton Moor, Oakhill were given the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity when Paul won a national newspaper competition.

On February 4 the friends got to meet Rio Ferdinand, Michael Owen, David Bentley and Sean Wright-Phillips at The Grove Hotel.

They were given the new England kit and tracksuit, which they later got the players to sign.

Ian said: "It was absolutely amazing, I've never been that close to anybody of that stature.

"We were told that when this white screen fell down we'd be shocked and amazed by what happened.

"There were cameras flashing everywhere, the press were calling the players names. I've never seen so many cameras. Rio Ferdinand seemed like a really nice guy chatty like you'd imagine him to be."

The pair were whisked off to Kings Langley where they were put up in a plush hotel the night before the unveiling. And on the day they were given tickets to the Wednesday night England vs Swtizerland match.

It is the fourth competition that Paul, who regularly enters sports competitions, has won in the past year.

He said: "I support Arsenal but I'll go to any match. The day was really good, we met a few England players.

"They look quite big on telly but they're not that big in real life. The tops aren't out yet and people kept asking us how we'd got hold of them."

Ian added: "They all signed our shirts, it's in a frame on the wall."

Back to school for road signwriters

MOTORISTS were left confused but amused after a signpost for Grange Farm mysteriously changed to read Grange Hill.

The sign, situated along the H4 Dansteed Way between Crownhill and Grange Farm, was spotted by eagle-eyed MK NEWS reader Clifford Rose as he drove his grandson to work on Friday.

The directions on the 5ft by 2ft sign now spell the name of the popular children's television series, Grange Hill, which shocked viewers with its gritty representation of life in an inner-city comprehensive.

The show was recently axed by the BBC but the discovery of the sign implies that it has merely relocated - to Milton Keynes.

Mr Rose said: "I was just following the signs for Grange Farm and I saw this big sign standing on it's own that said Grange Hill.

"The council has obviously got that school boy show on their minds! This is worse than the sign for Giles Brook which they messed up a few years ago by putting two 'L's in."

But a spokesman for Milton Keynes Council had an alternative explanation.

"Originally Grange Farm was going to be called Grange Hill but people became aware of the TV programme," he said.

"The signs were already commissioned so they found a low cost way of fixing the signs; to put a metal plate across the word 'Hill'.

"In this case it has dropped off.

"We will replace it but it will take a number of weeks before it goes on the council programme."

Charity looking for adoption families

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A VOLUNTARY adoption agency is calling for parents of black and mixed ethnic heritage to offer a child a home and family.

St Francis' Children's Society, a charity based in Woolstone, says the Adoption Register shows that over 33 per cent of the 4,000 children waiting to be adopted are of black or mixed ethnic heritage.

Many of these children can wait five years or more before a suitable adoptive family comes forward and, many of them are children under two years of age.

Jasvir Juss, lead worker of the Society's Anancy Black Families Initiative said: "There's a desperate need for people from black and mixed ethnic backgrounds to come forward to adopt.

"These are the children who often wait longest for a family, and they're sometimes in sibling groups as well.

"If you need further encouragement our recent development of the Anancy Families network leads the way in ensuring that adoptive parents of children from black and minority ethnic backgrounds are brought together to learn about and celebrate the cultural diversity within their family."

With its Widening Horizons programme, the Society is also serious about recruiting families for children with additional needs and, providing them with the support they need.

The society offers services for the support and preparation of adoptive parents, support for children and adults who have experienced adoption and counsel for birth families who have lost a child to adoption

■ To find out more you can attend the charity's open evening on Wednesday, February 27 from 6.30pm to 8.30pm. For a place call Chris Large or Jasvir Juss on 01908 572734.

Store guard injured in till robbery

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A SECURITY guard needed hospital treatment after two men robbed a store.

Police are appealing for witnesses to help them identify the culprits following the incident at Tesco Express in Blackberry Court, Walnut Tree, on Sunday.

At around 8.10pm a man went to the till to pay for a chocolate bar but when the cashier opened the till, he pushed the cashier back and grabbed a handful of money from the till.

When a security guard tried to intervene he was punched in the face by another man.

Detective Constable Adam Billingham said: "This was a frightening incident which left the cashier shocked and distressed and the security guard needing hospital treatment for his injuries.

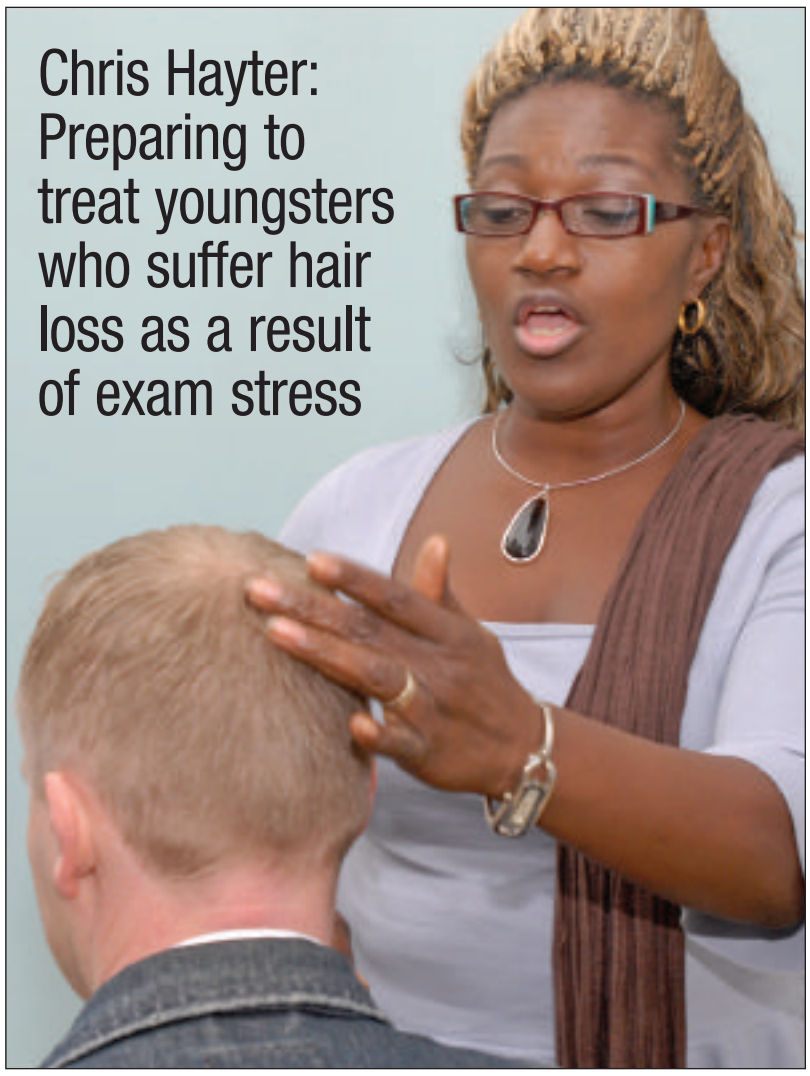
"I am aware that there were other customers in the store at the time of the robbery and I am keen to speak to them.

"If you were one of these shoppers or saw any suspicious activity in the area at the time, please contact me."

Police described the man who stole the money as white, in his early twenties, tall, with long brown hair to his chin, parted in the middle.

Det Con Bllingham can be contacted via the Police Enquiry Centre on 08458 505505.

Hair today, gone tomorrow



Chris Hayter: Preparing to treat youngsters who suffer hair loss as a result of exam stress

A HAIR specialist is preparing to treat youngsters who suffer hair loss as a result of exam stress.

Thousands of youngsters across Milton Keynes are getting ready to take their GCSEs and A-levels this summer.

In 2007 The Health Oasis in Bradwell Common treated 25 cases of adolescent hair loss from ages 12-17, all of which were stress-related.

The number of enquiries for premature hair loss compared to 2006 was up 65 per cent and 500 per cent since 2002.

Chris Hayter from the Health Oasis says she is all too familiar with this growing subject.

She said: "At an age when looks is deemed a pivotal part of your development and social acceptability, the sudden loss of hair can have a dramatic effect on someone that they tend to keep as a closely guarded secret.

"The sudden increase of stress brought on from exams can cause perfectly healthy hair to fall out."

Hair loss among teenagers is relatively unrecognised due to the associated stigmas amongst adolescents.

This can discourage them from being forthcoming about the issue.

According to the Qualifications and Curriculum Authorities, one million GCSE, AS and A-Level students will suffer more stress than ever this year prompting an increase in help and support throughout the country.

Such stress can have adverse effects on an individual and The Health Oasis wants to raise awareness of the under-reported symptom of hair loss.

Conditions such as alopecia areata are triggered by stress where an auto-immune response (when the immune system mistakenly attacks healthy hair) in the hair follicles is generated or trichotillomania that is also associated with pressure.

These conditions are common primarily in teenage girls when their hair is 'twiddled' absent-mindedly, which leads to the hair being pulled out, causing bald patches.

While many seek advice from a trichologist, Chris believes that advances in treatments and products can help as well as understanding the person's individual well-being.

She said: "We have helped treat many women and men with very thin to almost no hair through understanding their lifestyle, diet and personal emotions.

"Once the customer understands that these factors have an impact on the health of their hair, we are able to use a range of treatments together with a lifestyle change to create a dramatic impact.

"The same has been done for teenagers.

The Health Oasis specialises in using unique products imported to the UK from Monaco that use the power of horse mane extract (ANP tricholipids) to help add strength, shine and volume back to dull hair.

Its unique properties and ingredients have been proven to dramatically reduce hair loss and shedding and help treat alopecia.

Diner-mite: Stantonbury Campus Backstage promotions management team

Mosh not mash as bands gig in school canteen

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

MASHED potato is being replaced by rock music in the school canteen at Stantonbury Campus.

A-level students studying music technology at the school are organising gigs in their school canteen known as 'The Diner'.

Scenes from the musical Grease spring to mind when you imagine teenagers dancing around canteen tables, but here they will be moshing to rock and punk music.

The gig nights, called Backstage, are held monthly on Thursday nights and usually feature three local bands.

The students organised two at the end of last year, which attracted around 120 rockers each.

The gigs are open to everyone, though they are mainly focusing on school pupils.

The Music Technology course was launched at Stantonbury Campus last year.

Lee Freeman, Backstage organiser, said: "There was no provision for doing live music on the course so the teacher offered us the opportunity to organise this ourselves whilst they keep an eye on us.

"We are responsible for booking the bands and the venue, setting up the equipment and selling the tickets.

"At the next gig we will also be doing the lights and sound ourselves.

"When we go off to university we will have more experience than other students and it is good for our applications."

The students' next gig will be held on Thursday February 28 and will feature Terrapin Trainstation, Speeding Mellow and Harassing Anna. Doors open at 6.45pm and tickets cost £2.

The students are also calling for more bands to perform at the venue.

For more information visit myspace.com/backstagelive.

Cops continue crackdown with new 'move on' orders

POLICE will continue their crackdown on anti-social behaviour by banning troublemakers from an area for up to 48 hours.

Officers in Milton Keynes began using the 'Direction to Leave' power on Friday to stem alcohol-fuelled anti-social behaviour and violence.

Anyone aged 16 or over can be directed to leave a location for up to 48 hours if their presence is likely to cause or contribute to the occurrence of alcohol-related crime or disorder.

Anyone who fails to comply with a direction to leave could be fined up to £2,500 and could be arrested if they return to the area.

Chief Inspector Andy Standen said: "Officers across Milton Keynes will begin using the 'Direction to Leave' power from Friday to tackle the problem of people hanging around if they've been drinking, but may not have done anything yet to warrant being arrested.

"It should be a good preventative option for us to help residents and communities feel safer.

"It will be especially useful in the town centre, but also around the estates and smaller shop areas of Milton Keynes.

"This initiative comes part-way through our current Operation Disrupt, which is already having an effect with police confiscating alcohol from young people under 18 in public places, and shows our continuing commitment to crack down on unacceptable behaviour."

Worshippers restricted to 500 as new church gets go-ahead

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CHURCH and community centre in Shenley Brook End is to be built despite objections from local residents over its size.

The Church of God of Prophecy (COGOP), which is currently based in rented property in Medbourne, is to build a two-storey building in Manifold Lane with facilities for a place of worship, nursery, youth centre, IT rooms and teaching space.

The application was passed by Milton Keynes Council's development control committee last Thursday (February 14), although a limit was put on how many people could use the building.

The COGOP, which has had a branch in Milton Keynes for 25 years, originally hoped to be able to have over 700 people worshipping at a time, but this has been restricted to 500 by the council.

Peter Ballantyne, chairman of the Shenley Brook End Residents' Association said: "It is not going to solve the traffic problem.

"Most of the congregation live outside the area and their car park takes 100 so even with an average of five in a car we will end up with a situation where we will have cars blocking the roads."

"We feel as if we have been abused, that the residents never really had a chance as [the council] wanted to get rid of the site."

In 2004 the site was granted permission for the Milton Keynes Hindu Association to build a community centre, despite opposition from residents and MK Council.

After months of campaigning to win the fight the Hindus decided to build on another site.

Youngsters help to shape city's future

Ambassadors: Bhavesh Sampat, Woody Chiu, Sabrina Atwal and Kehinde Frank-Isewon

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

THREE thousand students have joined a campaign to make Milton Keynes a better society.

The youngsters from Milton Keynes College are part of the Student Citizenship Programme, which means they will get to help shape the city's future.

A conference entitled Young People Today, Tomorrow's Future took place last week.

The Student Citizenship Programme is being run in conjunction with key local agencies including Milton Keynes Partnership and the Make a Difference volunteer programme.

Chris Rice, marketing manager at MK College, said: "As the title suggests, these teenagers will be our future generation of decision makers, so we want them to take ownership of their city now and get involved in helping prepare Milton Keynes for the challenges that lie ahead, making improvements and ensuring its success.

"Young people who have grown up here are immensely passionate about the city they live in and at their age they are idealisistic and want to change the world, which is just the sort of input we need."

Topics discussed at the conference included MK and the environment, sustainable development, community activities, and rights and responsibilities.

Patricipant Lucy Smith, 17, said: "I learned a lot from the conference. We would definitely love to be involved in helping develop Milton Keynes' future; it's not just all about the new buildings."

Student ambassador Bhavesh Sampat, 17, said: "We have all learned about the opportunities there are out there for us to take. It was a really worthwhile event."

Train drivers set to strike on pensions

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

NEARLY 200 train drivers at Bletchley station will go on strike over pension cuts.

Train drivers' union ASLEF announced on Thursday that 178 drivers from the Bletchley depot of London Midland will take strike action on February 28 and 29.

The strike will affect services at Bletchley on both days and the union has warned that further action may follow.

A statement on ASLEF's website said: "The action has been called because of the breakdown of talks on pensions.

"Managers at the company have now recognised that the problem exists but are unwilling to pay to remedy it.

"The union insists that its members' pensions are being radically reduced because the employer omitted to enhance pension provision when pay improvements have been agreed in the past, which is contrary to agreements and practice."

The union said that drivers who are nearing retirement stand to lose £2,700 a year from the pensions they expected to receive and £4,700 from the lump sum to which they expected to be entitled.

But London Midland wants to share the £1.4million cost of putting this right - an approach described by the union as 'completely unreasonable'.

ASLEF General Secretary Keith Norman said: ""It is ridiculous to suggest that ASLEF members should now pay for management's mistakes."

London Midland operates train services through the heart of England, connecting London, the Midlands and the North West, running more than 1,200 services a day.

A model of the new academy which will replace the 'improved Sir Frank Markham School

Top Ofsted marks for school set to face the bulldozer

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A SCHOOL about to be demolished to make way for an academy has just been given a thumbs up by Oftsed.

Sir Frank Markham Community School in Leadenhall has been commended for making 'significant improvements'.

But last Thursday councillors granted permission for it to be knocked down.

In its place a £28million academy will be built on the existing school's playing fields, with building work beginning this spring.

In November 2006 Ofsted gave the school, in an area of considerable deprivation, notice to improve.

But the latest report for the previously low attainment school verges on glowing.

It says: "Sir Frank Markham Community School has made significant improvements since the last inspection

"The school now provides satisfactory education and good care and support for its students.

"Strong leadership by the headteacher and senior team has been instrumental in developing a learning culture in the school, which is shared by the whole school community.

"This has led to an improvement in standards of teaching and students' achievement in the last year and students are demonstrating a more positive attitude towards learning."

> To have successfully come out of this Ofsted category in such a short space of time is an excellent achievement and reflects a great deal of hard work on the part of both staff and students
> – Sir Frank Markham head Mike O'Mahony

The new academy, to be run by Edge, will have a new building, a floodlit multi-surfaced sports pitch, basketball court, hard play area and art garden.

Headteacher Mike O'Mahony said: "Although our November 2006 inspection report commented that we were 'rapidly improving', overall provision at that time was nevertheless judged inadequate and we were given a notice to improve.

"To have successfully come out of this Ofsted category in such a short space of time is an excellent achievement and reflects a great deal of hard work on the part of both staff and students.

"I am especially proud of the way our students have developed over the last couple of years.

"They are becoming increasingly confident, capable and ambitious learners who will be successful in examinations and in their future lives.

"We still have a great deal to do, but with such a strong 'can do' culture in the school that is shared by staff and students I have absolute confidence that we will build on this success and continue our improvement."

Iraqi planners on regeneration tour

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

IRAQI town planners were given a tour of the stadiummk and housing estates across Milton Keynes last week to learn from the new city's evolution.

The planners from the local government in Najaf visited the city to gain some tips from its development and the plans for future expansion to help regenerate their city after the Iraqi war.

They were shown around by education charity Milton Keynes City Discovery Centre, based at Bradwell Abbey, on Thursday February 14.

They had the chance to look over the maps, surveys and plan documents that have guided the new city's evolution since the 1970s and were given an extensive tour of local neighbourhoods to show how Milton Keynes has fulfilled the goal of balanced community development.

The Iraqis were particularly keen to see the newly completed stadiummk as a major sports stadium is planned for Najaf.

They were also shown Milton Keynes Village, Broughton Square and The Hub in Central Milton Keynes. The visit was organised in conjunction with planning consultants Llewelyn Davies Yeang, whose founder led the design of Milton Keynes when it was first built.

The consultants have now won the contract to provide a master plan for the new layout of Najaf.

Una McGaughrin, spokesman for the consultants, said: "We thought bringing them to Milton Keynes would be a really good opportunity for them to see how a new town was built,"

"Najaf was damaged in the war but it is also a city that needs to be planned anyway as its population is growing rapidly and, with more security in the country people will come back and the city will get even bigger."

The Iraqi planners will spend a month in the UK when they will also be shown developments in parts of London, Canterbury and Bristol.

Michael Fynnott, director of the Milton Keynes City Discovery Centre, said the trip showed the planners were committed to developing their city.

"We receive a lot of people from overseas but these were some of the most professional and informed," he said.

"The situation they are facing is to regenerate what has been literally a battlefield.

"This visit has shown Iraq possesses the professional and intellectual course to be able to work their way forward.

"If these people are an indication of the people generally that are tasked with regenerating Iraq their future is in good hands and, they are under no illusion of the scale of the task at hand."

Sabina Crouch, education officer at Milton Keynes City Discovery Centre talks to Iraqi town planniers during their fact finding trip to MK

MP has 'nothing to hide'

Transparent: MP Mark Lancaster

A CITY MP has become one of the first MP's to publish his expenses.

Mark Lancaster, MP for Milton Keynes North East, believes MPs should be more transparent.

A full breakdown of what he claimed on expenses during 2006/2007 is now available on his website, www.lancaster4mk.com.

It shows that Mr Lancaster has claimed £83,706 for his five office staff, £21,300 for a second property, £4,733 for travel, and £6,983 on postage costs.

Mr Lancaster said: "The ongoing debate regarding MP's expenses has been damaging to politics and my own view is that politicians should be more transparent.

"I have nothing to hide which is why I have taken this decision to publish my expenses in full, something that I would encourage all other MP's to do as well."

He has not employed any members of his own family while serving as an MP.

Expenses for the current year, 2007-2008 will be published in October 2008.

Elsewhere the MP paid a visit to Penwith First School in Fishermead last week.

The MP says he is on a quest to visit every school in his constituency.

Phyllis Starkey, MP for Milton Keynes South West, said: "This is a gimmick on his part and people should see through it.

"The audited figures, which everyone can see as accurate, are published by the Parliamentary Authority in October."

New karts are the 'Biz' as Daytona celebrates record

DAYTONA Milton Keynes is celebrating its recent record-breaking year with the purchase of exciting new single-engined karts for its challenging North Circuit.

The acquisition follows hot on the heels of its brand new cadet karts fleet, also on the North Circuit.

The newest Biz Karts feature a Honda 200cc engine, racing clutch, hydraulic self-adjusting brakes, slick racing tyres, improved driver protection and are suitable for both adults and older junior drivers.

They're capable of 40 mph, which on the North Circuit is fast enough! Daytona's challenging North Circuit is 350 metres in length and currently has an average lap time of 25 seconds.

For just £360 (£45 per head) your company team of up to eight drivers can take part in an exclusive Daytona Cup race comprising five minutes practice and a 25 minute race. All equipment is supplied including race suits, gloves and helmets.

If you fancy organising the ultimate team building event for your staff you can book on 0845 644 5503 or visit; www.daytona.co.uk.

Go faster, safer: The new Biz Karts at Daytona reach 40mph – but have hydraulic self-adjusting brakes

Flight of fancy at orchestra concert

COLOURFUL bird costumes were the order of the day at Milton Keynes Theatre on Sunday.

Milton Keynes City Orchestra conducted by Sian Edwards performed its Birds concert at MK Theatre featuring children dressed in costume and storytelling by Yaw Asiyama.

The concert was the culmination of the Birds education and outreach programme which had seen a series of community concerts with storytelling attended by hundreds of local children and parents over recent weeks.

MK NEWS has teamed up with Pampers Kandoo to offer five lucky readers a goody bag containing cinema tickets, DVDs, Kandoo Instant Foam Handwash, Kandoo Toilet Wipes, and Kandoo Sensitive Toilet Wipes.

According to a survey carried out by Pampers Kandoo, children in the south east are huge film fans, with 70 per cent visiting the cinema or watching DVDs up to 3 times a week.

Milton Keynes film fans voted Harry Potter their favourite film of all time, while the Donkey from Shrek & Jack Sparrow from Pirates of the Caribbean were voted the best-loved children's film characters.

The survey also found that 60 per cent of children take inspiration from films in the games they play with their friends, which is why Pampers Kandoo has teamed up with Cineworld 'Movies for Juniors'.

Whether it's a Saturday morning treat complete with popcorn and a drink, or parents are simply looking for a fun way to entertain their tots, Kandoo Movies for Juniors offers a chance to escape into the world of film.

Movies for Juniors is also a fantastic chance to catch those recent releases that you might have missed first time around, for just £1.

To celebrate its sponsorship of Movies for Juniors, Pampers Kandoo is offering five lucky winners a fantastic film-lover's goody bag containing two full-price cinema tickets (to be used at Cineworld Milton Keynes) and a selection of DVDs, so that the fun can continue long after the film ends.

Keep fit free for a year and look good at Sands

SANDS Milton Keynes in Broughton has teamed up with MK NEWS to offer one lucky reader a year's free subscription to the toning tables and Vibrogym.

The prize - worth £500 - should help leave the winner looking slim and toned, whatever their age.

The salon provides first class beauty treatments including the best sunbeds and UV free spray tanning systems in the world, nail enhancements and natural nail care including Biosculpture and essential beauty including waxing and detox spas.

The salon is owned and operated by Louise, whose focus is to provide a local friendly service, whereby clients feel at home and at ease, in a relaxing, calm environment.

Toning tables work through repetitive, isokinetic exercise that isolates the major muscle groups. The movements are controlled and gentle and they enhance mobility and flexibility whilst firming figures.

Weight loss is achievable on the cardiovascular setting and you will also experience inch loss.

Toning tables are also an excellent form of exercise for anyone who suffers with joint problems or poor mobility such as Arthritis, Rheumatism or Multiple Sclerosis.

The Vibrogym is the latest technology inch loss and toning.

Whole body vibrations increase the acceleration factor acting on your body, increasing the force exerted and building muscle strength without the need for additional weights.

Contact with a Vibrogym induces a Tonic Vibration Reflex (TVR) which recruits up to 95 per cent of your muscle fibres. Conventional resistance training recruits only 40-50 per cent.

The benefits include increased muscular strength, size, power and endurance, increased bone mineral density and joint stability, improved posture, increased flexibitiy, reduced pain and fatigue and reduced cellulite.

You can book a free trial but Louise recommends that if you suffer from any of these conditions you consult your doctor before commencing ANY exercise programmes.

Donna Collins said: "Louise and her staff are really welcoming and friendly. I love the atmosphere and have recommended the salon to many friends."

■ You can contact the salon on 01908 239108.

Kids learn firefighters' skills

SIXTEEN young people are learning what it takes to be a firefighter in Milton Keynes this week.

It's a joint half-term initiative involving Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service and Peartree Bridge-based Platform 8-13.

Six boys and two girls aged between 11 and 13-years-old spent the day at Great Holm Fire Station on Monday and at Broughton Fire Station on Tuesday.

Eight young people aged between eight and 10 will be taking part in the scheme at Great Holm Fire Station on Wednesday.

They are being shown the ropes by firefighters from Bletchley, Broughton, Great Holm and Newport Pagnell, and members of Buckinghamshire Fire & Rescue Service's community safety team.

Pete Jones, community safety partnership manager for Milton Keynes, said: "It's a chance for us to show young people some of the positive things they can do with their lives."

After a health and safety briefing, Monday's activities included a look at the equipment carried on fire appliances, a demonstration by fire investigation dog Barney and his handler Kerry Burns and an opportunity to run out a hose reel and aim a jet of water at a target.

Tuesday's highlights included two demonstrations, one showing how quickly a kitchen fire can spread and the other how firefighters release people who are trapped in vehicles after crashes.

Urja Thakore with dancers Aakash Odedra and Ashwini Kalsekar in rehearsals

Grant sees Indian dance group celebrating spring

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN Indian dance group is to explore the emotions created by spring in a production funded by the local arts association.

The Pagrav Dance Company, based in Bletchley, has been given grants from the Milton Keynes Arts Association and from Arts Council for England to create a routine of Indian classical dance, called Kathak, to be performed in theatres.

This is new ground for the company, which teaches Indian dance and performs at events, but not for artistic director Urja Thakore who is an experienced choreographer and has been dancing since the age of six.

Mrs Thakore trained at a well-known dance academy in India and performed at venues and festivals all over India and Nepal before moving to the UK.

Mrs Thakore set up the company in 2005 to help raise awareness of Indian culture and to promote the dance form.

She will herself perform in the hour-long production called Baharan, which means spring.

The dance explores three aspects of spring - the longing for it to come, the arrival and celebration - and the human emotion throughout these phases.

Mrs Thakore said she realised the importance of spring when she first moved to England and has been researching for this production for two years.

"The importance of spring in the UK is very different to India," she said.

"In India it is more of a celebration and has mythological importance.

"In the UK it is more about the longing for the warmth and brightness of spring, as the winters are so cold."

"And the colours over here in spring are so beautiful.

"This dance looks at the modern aspirations as well as the Indian traditional experience of spring."

The production is performed by three dancers and live musicians playing traditional Indian instruments such as a stringed instrument called a sartod and a pair of drums called tabla, western instruments such as a cello and more modern equipment like a synthesizer.

It was shown to local theatre managers in a special performance at Madcap Theatre, Wolverton last week and will be launched in Wolverhampton on March 29.

The group hopes to tour theatres, including performances in local venues, in the autumn.

For more information about the company visit www.pagrav-dance.com.

Plane trees to be re-sited

NEW homes are being found for healthy trees growing on sites earmarked for development.

The move comes after lobby group Urban Eden accused regeneration agency Milton Keynes Partnership (MKP) of destroying the city's essence.

Now MKP has agreed to begin a new programme of works to relocate the affected trees to more suitable homes.

Tim Roxburgh, projects director for MKP, said: "We have listened to the public's comments about trees in Milton Keynes and, as a result, the first phase of work will see 50 London Plane trees removed from the currently disused site where outline planning permission has been granted for the new West End Central development.

"Of these, ten trees will be relocated to the Northfield roundabout, while the remainder will be kept in a safe haven until sites have been identified for them to be replanted within Milton Keynes or its surrounds."

The remaining shrubs and vegetation, together with a number of diseased horse chestnut trees, will be removed from the site and all of the work will be completed before the start of the bird nesting season.

Theo Chalmers from Urban Eden, an organisation set up to protect Milton Keynes during its redevelopment, has congratulated MKP on its decision to move the trees but still has concerns.

He said: "I think first of all I should congratulate them on actually doing something.

"I think it's a victory for Urban Eden, we've obviously been heard.

"They're admitting they've made a complete mess of the Northfield roundabout. They cut trees down right in the middle of breeding season.

"But there are several 'buts'. One is why are they clearing the site before they have planning permission, do they know something we don't? And if they were sticking to the original building line of Milton Keynes then they wouldn't have to clear the trees."

Mr Roxburgh added: "Maturing and healthy trees are a precious commodity and we welcome the opportunity to work with both The Parks Trust and Milton Keynes Council to find ways to save them and reuse them elsewhere in the city. We are delighted that we will be able to relocate the trees so that they can be enjoyed and continue to grow in Milton Keynes."

Win a snowboard lesson with the world's best

– and a warming breakfast from SUBWAY eat fresh.

MK NEWS has teamed up with the world's leading sandwich chain, Subway, to offer one lucky reader the chance to win a once-in-a-life-time opportunity to go snowboard-ing with the UK's No1 female snowboarder, Lesley Mckenna at SNO!zone, the premier indoor snow slope at Xscape in the city centre.

Whether you're a beginner or a budding champion, this is your chance to have a go and pick up some cracking tips and tricks from a SUBWAY superstar and enjoy snowboarding exactly the way you want it.

The winner will arrive at SNO!zone at Xscape on Saturday, March 1 and feast on a delicious, warming breakfast from the SUB-WAY chain.

Then it's time for a briefing with Lesley, before kitting up and hitting the slopes, where you'll get the chance to have some one-on-one time with Lesley.

The SUBWAY chain, which prides itself on making Sub sandwiches fresh in front of you, has teamed up with the SNO!zone at Xscape to bring you this fresh, exciting oppor-tunity.

SNO!zone Milton Keynes is one of the UK's top skiing and snowboard-ing venues. The main slope is 170m long and covered in 1,500 tonnes of real snow making SNO!zone the first choice for skiers and snowboarders of all abilities.

Combine that with the amazing bars, restaurants and nightclub in Xscape and you have one of the hottest venues in the country.

ARE 'FRIENDS' ELECTRIC

Tubeway Army

I'VE never quite managed to work out why Cars has been remixed and reissued so many times, while the best this song's had until now (at least that I can recall) was to help launch the profile of Sugababes Version 2.0 to dizzying heights. Talk about drawing the short straw.

Let's be honest, Are 'Friends' Electric? is a great song, but it really, really shouldn't be because if there was a manual in existence showing you how to make a classic song, then this particular number would probably be doing nearly everything wrong.

For a start, there's no chorus anywhere – schoolboy error or what? Not only that, but the singer (some bloke called Gary) can't seem to decide whether he wants to sing or speak the words. I mean, come on, the song's five minutes-plus, surely that's plenty of time to decide. It's also incredibly repetitive but, as I said before, it's great.

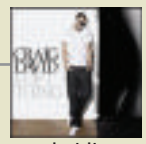
Maybe it's because the song's five minute's long that the tune's got plenty of room to manoeuvre, and while it's repetitive, that also works in its favour because this isn't a cheerful song.

As for Mr Numan's vocals – even they work. The song's so highly regimented that it needs something to break things up a little and his monologues, whether they're sung or spoken, are just the job.

This is getting a limited re-release on 7ins only. Just thought you'd like to know.

6 OF 1 THING

Craig David



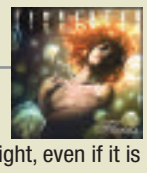
IT says Craig David on the cover, but it sounds for all the world like one of Wet Wet Wet's happier offerings, but Craig sounds, well, he actually sounds a bit serious and businesslike to me.

It's a bit like putting 20 middle-aged bank managers into the Big Brother house and watching them come to terms with the fact that, thanks to the set designer throwing caution (and electrical safety) to the wind, the diary room can only be accessed via the swimming pool.

It doesn't quite work, that's what I'm trying to say, but if Mr David had sounded a little more cheery, he might've got away with it.

FLOODS

Fightstar



I LOVE it when I'm proved right, even if it is only sort of halfway right.

A few years back, I reviewed a single by Charlie Simpson's previous band and I recall saying that if the band cut out the jolliness and nonsense, then they stood a chance of surviving more than a couple of years.

Of course, things didn't quite work out like that, but at least one of the band's members has cut out the nonsense - and then some.

This is closer to Muse than McFly, in every possible way.

It starts out with a piano solo, then the band kicks in and does its bit, but if anything, rather than going all out the whole thing's been underplayed.

The last time I heard a Fightstar song was when they released Paint Your Target, and at that point they sounded like a band trying to find its own identity. Well, they've found it, and fair play to them.

They're not commercial and they're sure as hell not full of the joys of spring, but they've put out a good single here.

I'd describe it as a rock song for grown-ups, but that sounds too similar to Driving Rock, and it's anything but that.

Ought to be a hit, but as is the way, it probably won't be.

FAMILY DRAMA

Ronny Jhutti and Rokhsaneh Ghawam-Shadidi

Rafta Rafta – a bolly good show

A HILARIOUS family drama is on its way to Milton Keynes Theatre in the form of Rafta, Rafta.

Bollywood actor Harish Patel plays the groom's father, joined by Ronny Jhutti playing the groom, and Rokhsaneh Ghawam-Shadidi in the role of the bride.

Ronny, who's starred in Shameless and Dr Who, is keen for the play not to be pigeon-holed.

He said: "I think it is slightly more sophisticated than merely being an Asian or Indian drama so I am sometimes at odds with it being presented that way. It is trying to highlight issues that any family might experience, it is universal.

"This is shown by the cross section of audience that have come to see the play at the National and out of London."

And Rokhsaneh, who at one point braves the stage in just her underwear, echoes his thoughts.

She said: "It's got that dry northern humour. I think it's a very human story, about those family dymamics. And we've all got families.

"The couple don't consummate the marriage but it's not really about that, that's the catalyst that brings out underlying tensions."

Rafta, Rafta is based on a Bill Naughton's classic All In Good Time, which has also been made into a film. It's been a smash-hit at London's National Theatre.

Rokhsaneh says the play has evolved due to the presence of the writer during all their rehearsals, adding: "Audiences have received it with open arms. "The more time we've been there it's got bigger and bigger."

Ronny said: "I feel blessed to be part of it as it is an amazing play, wonderfully written and well cast."

TASTELIFE

NAIDNI

Wolverton Road, Stony Stratford
Telephone 635009
Review by Alicia Babaee

THIS former Chinese restaurant has been totally transformed.

Old fashioned wall murals and white table cloths have been replaced by chunky wooden tables, mood lighting and glass brick walls.

Naidni, which spells 'Indian' backwards, is the latest in a line of trendy Eastern restaurants.

But with its highly passionate owner Muj on a mission to give customers a special experience, this one offers something that little bit different.

As he was expecting us, Muj had already had his chef cook us up a feast of dishes that he selected himself.

We started with papadoms, which came with three tasty chutneys and an onion salad.

He also gave us some Bombay duck to try which, rather misleadingly, is actually crispy dried salted fish.

Muj arranged for us to try some of his favourite starters.

The Muji special - created by him - was a stir-fried concoction of chicken, lamb, mushrooms, garlic and olives, and was extremely tasty but like nothing I've had at an Indian before. We also had king prawn papadom rolls which we loved, spicy kebab, and aloo pattise - a potato dish which had melted cheese on top.

For our main course Muj treated us to his very special lobster, which we battled our way through to get to the meat, but really enjoyed.

In addition he gave us a very tasty sizzling skillet of Naidni flamer with chicken and lamb, a garlic chicken melti korai and a lamb shanti which takes its name from a Bollywood film.

We devoured it along with pilau rice, keema and garlic naans, and a selection of vegetable dishes that included a pumpkin one, broccoli bhaji, and delicious bindi bhaji.

Muj didn't skimp on the desserts and we were treated to a some traditional gulam jaman dumplings, a waffle with Haagen Daaz and and chocolate sauce, and what he called a Bonney May ice cream – a selection of chocolate, vanilla, and strawberry ice creams which would be ideal for kids.

By the spring Muj will have a patio area outside the restaurant so customers can enjoy outdoor dining. There will be a separate snack and lunch menu to be enjoyed on the patio during the day.

The Naidni is well worth a visit.

Proud to be MK's favourite

WOLVERTON TIGERMOTHS YFC

SPONSORED BY AVENUES ESTATE AGENTS!

Avenues is an independently owned Estate Agency based in Wolverton and has been proud to be associated with Wolverton Tigermoths Youth Football Club over the past 4 years.

When we were approached by the Tigermoths in 2003 we were pleased to sponsor the club by purchasing brand new kits displaying our Company logo for all six teams. Now that the club has expanded further, we are again delighted to be supplying brand new kits this year in our corporate colours for all the club's ten teams.

Avenues Estate Agents have received unprecedented support from people living in Wolverton and the surrounding areas and feel that this is our way of giving something back to the local community. Pictured above with the teams are Avenues Directors, Sanjeev Verma and Shahab Bezchi and the Club Chairman, Pat Booden.

Solution at hand for those office aches and pains

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

FOR all those office-based workers who feel aches and pains from sitting at a desk all day, a solution could be at hand.

A sports massage therapist based in Milton Keynes is now offering an on-site massage service to leave staff feeling relaxed and comfortable.

Sprint Sport Massage has clinics in Shenley Leisure Centre and the Horn Street Clinic, Winslow.

Owner Phil Croney, a qualified sports therapist, set up the company just over a year ago and is now expanding his services to provide massage or soft tissue therapy in the workplace and advice on creating a healthier working environment.

The advanced techniques used in sports massage are also beneficial to those who need remedial massage therapy due to day-to-day problems or general overuse injuries.

These may include conditions such as back pain, headache, migraine, muscular cramps, Repetitive Strain Injury (RSI), and a stiff neck.

Mr Croney said: "People involved in occupations which involve remaining in one position for a period of time such as office workers, professional drivers and company car drivers can benefit greatly from remedial massage.

"This is the same for people involved in occupations which involve physical strain that can lead to overuse injuries and time off work."

Sprint Sport Massage can provide packages to companies and tailor treatments for the whole workforce.

They can also provide advice on setting up workplaces properly , such as desks, and can supply and install 'healthy' computing equipment including headsets and monitor arms.

"We are identifying and healing muscular dysfunction in the workplace and providing a consultancy service so companies can be more proactive in reducing these problems," added Mr Croney.

Tim Aylen, who works at MK NEWS, was given a sample of their on-site massage therapy.

Mr Croney brought a specialist chair into the office and used sports massage techniques to identify tight and sore muscles which may be hindering Tim's comfort and productivity

"I have had a few different massages before but I felt that he was stretching my muscles more," said Tim.

"He could do the massage through my shirt as he had a special technique to use through clothes, using his knuckles and wrists rather than fingers.

"It got rid of all the aches and pains I get from sitting at a computer all day and from a two hour commute.

"I felt very relaxed."

Sprint Sport Massage can offer corporate services to companies located in the East or West Midlands, Northern Home Counties and Thames Valley.

For more information visit www.sprintsportsmassage.co.uk, or call 01908 260139.

Two new team members for tourism 'voice' Destination Milton Keynes

DESTINATION Milton Keynes, the organisation charged with providing a collective voice for tourism in Milton Keynes, has made two new appointments to its existing marketing team.

Carys Underwood joins as head of member communications and local marketing, and PR agency Emberton Dale Advertising Ltd has been appointed to spearhead DMK's PR campaign.

Carys Underwood, former marketing and events manager at Bletchley Park Trust, is helping to produce a marketing strategy for the coming year as well as supporting DMK members by identifying and maximising cross-marketing opportunities.

To support the marketing activity, Emberton Dale has been awarded the PR contract to promote Milton Keynes as a leisure tourism destination covering attractions, activities and accommodation and as a desirable business location for meetings and conferences.

Jackie Inskipp, general manager of Destination Milton Keynes, said: "We're delighted with the latest additions to the marketing team.

"Following the launch of Destination Milton Keynes in 2006, we have firmly established the organisation within the local area attracting a growing number of member organisations, provided a conference desk facility which has attracted hundreds of people into the city for business and gained national recognition for our efforts."

The daily grind? Give us a break!

IN a recent survey conducted by international development charity ActionAid, it was found that one third of UK office workers take tea and coffee breaks at work to alleviate boredom, whie one in five of us admit to making more tea and coffee to climb the career ladder.

The poll, examining the tea and coffee habits of the nation ahead of the charity's 24-hour tea and coffee break on February 29, revealed that nearly 35 per cent of British workers rely on nipping off for a quick cuppa to get away from the daily grind.

Perhaps unsurprisingly, this number increased dramatically among employees working within HR and sales roles, with almost 70 per cent needing the breaks to keep them going throughout the day.

The poll also revealed that one in five of us use tea and coffee breaks as a way to socialise and bond with colleagues, while the same number deliberately make more tea and coffee just to get the attention of the boss and advance their career prospects.

ActionAid's 24-Hour Tea and Coffee Break will take place on Friday, February 29 as part of Fairtrade Fortnight.

The charity is asking people all over the nation to hold their own fair-trade tea and coffee breaks to raise awareness and money to tackle the inequalities suffered by farmers in the developing world.

Through education, training and helping them fight for better pay and conditions, ActionAid works to transform farmers lives for the better.

Andy John, ActionAid's 24-Hour Tea and Coffee Break spokesman, said: "We are definitely a nation of tea and coffee lovers. Use ActionAid's 24-Hour Tea and Coffee Break as an excuse to organise your own event and raise money for a good cause.

"By holding a tea or coffee break, you will be helping farmers in some of the poorest parts of the world to end their own poverty in a way that will have a lasting impact for generations."

Bedfordshire TENDER

BEDFORDSHIRE COUNTY COUNCIL (BCC) AND BEDFORDSHIRE PRIMARY CARE TRUST (BPCT) RESIDENTIAL & NURSING CARE HOME PRE-PLACEMENT CONTRACT - CCO369. ADDITIONAL REQUEST FOR MENTAL HEALTH CARE.

BCC and BPCT wish to tender for a pre-placement contract with contractors/providers for the provision of Care Home (Residential and/or Nursing) placements for eligible individuals in the boundary of Bedfordshire. The provision of care for those with physical or learning disabilities, sensory loss or dementia/EMI will additionally be required in some cases. Mental health will be additional to this Tender.

The establishment of the pre-placement contracts will allow either BCC or BPCT to select care placements for individuals from a list of care providers/contractors, who will be already under contract to BCC or BPCT. It will be a mandatory requirement that contractors/providers provide care in line with the Care Standards Act 2000 and in accordance with each service user's individual service agreement requirements. All potential candidates will need to be CSCI registered.

The anticipated Contract start date is October 2008. The initial duration will be three years with the possibility of extending in 12 monthly durations to a maximum contract length of not more than five years (60 Months).

Organisations wishing to tender for this requirement should apply to the address shown below for a Tender pack, which must be completed and returned by 14.00hrs (2pm), on 30th June 2008.

Current participants do not need to re-apply or re-register as the tender process is still underway.

Apply to: The Procurement Group, County Hall, Cauldwell Street, Bedford MK42 9AP, email: operational.procurement@bedscc.gov.uk

Honda Civic TYPE-S 2.2 i-CTDi

WARM hatches are nothing particularly new but it's only relatively recently that diesel warm hatches started to make a significant impact on British buyers.

Cars like the SEAT Ibiza FR TDI, the CitroÎn C4 VTR HDi and the Skoda Fabia vRS TDI have all notched-up respectable sales. As this was going on, Honda already had all the ingredients necessary to join the party.

Firstly, the company had already established the Type-S badge in the previous generation Civic. Secondly, they already had an excellent 2.2-litre i-CTDi diesel engine doing sterling work in the Accord and, thirdly, they had engineered the Civic in such a manner that this powerplant could be squeezed beneath its stubby bonnet.

The result is the surprisingly satisfying Civic Type-S 2.2 i-CTDi we have before us here. It's not cheap but at least it's easy to see where your money has been spent.

Powered by a torquey 2.2-litre diesel unit good for 139bhp, the Type-S also comes with a slick, wristy six-speed manual gearbox that will have you punching up and down the ratios just for the sheer fun of it.

The dynamics are what makes this car special and they're a long way removed from a common-or-garden variety five-door Civic.

For a start, the steering has been sharpened to give a more direct feel. The spring and damper settings have been revised to offer a decent ride quality with the standard 17-inch alloys coupled with beefy roll resistance through corners. The rear track has been widened by 20mm to give the Type-S an even more planted appearance, the car almost appearing to sit foursquare on the tarmac.

Like any diesel car, it doesn't show off its best aspect with a bald 0-60 figure, managing to hit the benchmark in 8.3 seconds. Instead, the Type-S saves its best work for the midrange where it will overtake with real verve with as little as 2,000rpm showing on the clock, despite maximum power being attained at 4,000rpm. Keep it in this band and it feels genuinely quick. Top speed is pegged at 127mph.

Get over the fact that it's not going to regularly win you the traffic light Grand Prix and there's a lot to be said for the Honda Civic Type-S 2.2 i-CTDi. It's good-looking, well-equipped, engineered with an integrity utterly beyond 90 per cent of other car manufacturers and, once you've got it spooled up to speed, very good fun to drive. It also manages to make most of its rivals look a generation older. The initial asking price might put some off, as may the nagging suspicion that this is a sheep in wolf's clothing.

Some will pigeonhole it as a Type-R for those whose partner wouldn't let them have one but this is perhaps unfair. Responsibilities happen to all of us sooner or later. Thanks to Honda, not every aspect of growing up needs to be disappointingly onerous.

BARNET
League Two
Saturday, February 23. KO 3pm
Underhill

A ONCE 11-point lead at the top of League Two has been cut to a slender two for MK Dons and with teams around them, most notably Hereford, holding games in hand it is vital that the Dons return to the winning form of old.

Back in January Ismail Yakubu netted a controversial winner for Barnet at stadiummk and it was a result that started a poor run of form for the Dons.

But Barnet have not had the best of times either with a run of four games without a win keeping them in the wrong half of the table.

SWANSEA CITY
JPT Area Final second leg
Monday, February 25. KO 7pm
stadiummk

ONLY Swansea City stand in the way between MK Dons and their Johnstone's Paint final dreams.

If the score is square at the end of ninety minutes, the game will be decided on penalties. There is no added time.

Following the tie at the Liberty Stadium the Dons have the added incentive of the home crowd to help pull them through the tough tie.

Midfielder Keith Andrews will be hoping he can become the first skipper to lead the Dons out at Wembley on March, 30.

Either Grimsby Town or Morecambe – who 24 hours later – will await the winner.

MK Dons have snapped up Nottingham Forest youngster Felix Bastains on a month long loan.

The left-side winger has been drafted in as extra cover.

Bastains, a German Under-19 international, has already spent loan spells with Chesterfield and Notts County this season.

The 19-year-old is already known amongst Dons fans after he scored in Chesterfield's 2-1 win at stadiummk in November.

Since joining up with the Dons on Thursday Bastains has already made a good impression on his new boss.

Paul Ince said: "The kid has a lovely left foot and has the ability to play on the left wing or up front. Our squad's very thin at the moment and with a lot of games coming up we need as many bodies as we can get.

A FAMILIAR face stole the limelight in Barnsley's stunning 2-1 win over Liverpool in the FA Cup.

Goalkeeper Luke Steele put on the performance of a lifetime to deny several goal scoring opportunities for Rafa Benitez's Premier League side.

And the story could have been so very different for Steele, who made his debut for Barnsley in the record win at Ainsfield, as he might have been wearing Dons colours this season.

The 23-year-old keeper was one of many to spend the pre-season on trail in Milton Keynes, he even featured in the Dons' friendly win over West Ham United.

Steele returned to parent club West Brom as Paul Ince opted for Willy Gueret.

Gaffer Ince says: 'It's good to talk'

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

PAUL Ince has voiced a rallying cry urging his players to pull through their recent dip in form.

The Dons boss was furious last week after seeing his side let slip a three goal lead to draw 3-3 with Shrewsbury Town but believes the key to returning to winning ways is communication.

"It's a case of having voices," Ince said, "when your letting a game slip through your fingers you've got to have leaders, strong characters who are brave enough to push the team up the park.

"Okay we're good players, we can play football but if you don't use your mouth it's going to be a problem.

"Whether your trying to go up, get in the play-offs or stay-up the bravest ones will be successful and we've got to make sure we've got the bravery and the courage, even when thing aren't going well, to communicate and help each other.

A blistering run in October and again in December saw the Dons move 11 points clear at the top of League Two with most teams around them prepared to settle for second place.

Communication: Paul Ince

However, since the turn of the year results have not gone their way.

The Dons had been hoping to get back on track at the weekend, a win over rock-bottom Wrexham would have done nicely, yet those plans were halted as the match at stadiummk was postponed due to a frozen pitch.

With promotion not looking as comfortable as it once did it would be easy for the Dons' camp to start feeling a little edgy.

"It's not a time to panic." Ince said.

"I think people are a little apprehensive I don't understand why, there's 14 games to go. We've been at the top for a long, long time and with teams chasing you it's always hard to stay there.

"When it comes to a battle we've got to make sure that we're prepared to battle because if we're not then things aren't going to go our way."

Last year Ince made a five minute cameo appearance for Macclesfield is he prepared to pull on a Dons shirt to guide them through to promotion?

"I might have to the way things are going! Obviously I don't intend on coming on to the pitch but you never say never.

"Sometimes when you're manager and you get a bit annoyed, angry or frustrated you need to take it out. But I'm just joining in with training as a bit of fitness work."

ICE HOCKEY

Shot down in Flames

MK Lightning fell further behind in the English Premier League title chase after losing 5-1 to Guildford Flames.

In a crucial meeting Guildford made sure they took advantage of a poor Lightning showing to move into joint first place with Bracknell Bees and five points clear of MK.

A dip in form has led to Lightning losing their last three games with two of those coming at home rink Planet Ice.

While Lightning continue to ice without Michael Wales (wrist) they were boasted by the return of Gary Clarke who has been on international duty with Great Britain.

But not even Clarke's reappearance could inspire Lightning to a much needed win as they fell three goals down with 14 minutes.

Ill discipline was to blame as Guildford capitalised on power play opportunities with David Savage firing in the first four minutes in before Jozef Kohut and Rick Plant extended the visitors' advantage.

The Lightning side were a shadow of the team that beat Guildford 7-0 in the cup back in October. In fact MK had only lost one of their five meetings this season prior to the weekends' game.

Two strikes from Milos Melicherik, including a short handed goal, effectively ended any chance of Lightning fighting back it was more a case of shutting shop to stop Guildford extending their lead.

Picture by Jez Tibbetts

When Toni Alasaarela hit Lightning's one and only goal nine minutes from time it was all a little too late and counted for nothing more than a consolation for Nick Poole's battered side.

With eight league games remaining Lightning face an uphill struggle if they are to mount a real challenge for the domestic championship.

■ LIGHTNING travel to Swindon on Saturday for a 5.45pm face-off and on Sunday they travel to Slough for their second away fixture of the weekend. Face-off is at 6.30pm.

Heat on as Lions fail to hold leads

MK LIONS 81
New 23, Brown/Williams 15
GUILDFORD HEAT 87
Dorsey 28, Harrison 17, Martin 15

MK Lions were sent crashing down the BBL table after a heartbreaking last minute defeat to Guildford Heat.

It could have been so different for the Lions, who before the match were looking to consolidate their second place with a win, as they carried leads throughout the match but could not hold on when it mattered.

While the Lions beat Guildford in the BBL Cup back in December, they failed to take any points from the Heat in their three league meetings this season.

Before the meeting Lions coach had urged his side to return to winning ways after losing ground on league leaders Newcastle Eagles.

Heat were first on the scoreboard when Michael Martin netted early but it was the Lions who were looking dominant with Kevin Griffin and Mike New leading the way in a 10-0 burst.

The visitors were able to keep up tying the match six minutes into the first quarter yet New scored twice before Tony Windless grabbed his first score of the evening to give the Lions a 23-19 advantage.

Five unanswered points from Yorick Williams added with points from New, Peter Heizer and Robert Youngblood helped MK build a strong lead

But once again Heat hit back with a run of ten points to the Lions' one pulling the half-time score to 42-37 to the home side.

The second half saw the Heat claw their way back into the game with EJ Harrison inspiring 12 points without reply shortly after Terrell Brown had hit back to back three pointers for the Lions.

Brown and Williams then combined with triples but it was missed free throws that cost the Lions as their lead was slashed to just two points heading into the final quarter.

Scores were exchanged throughout the final ten minutes and it was the Lions who were holding a slender advantage, 79-73, with a minute remaining on the clock.

However, Heat broke the game open by adding seven to the scoreboard to give them a one point lead, another twist was to come as New reclaimed the lead for the Lions.

But a three pointer from Ajou Deng put Guildford ahead once again and while the Lions desperately try to steal a late win, the result was secured when Heat scored from the foul line.

■ LIONS travel to Leicester Riders on Saturday with tip-off at 7.30pm. At Bletchley Leisure Centre on Sunday they host Sheffield Sharks. Tip-off is at 4pm

RUGBY ROUND-UP

MILTON Keynes edge a win in a hard fought contest against Witney to stay third place in the Southern Counties league.

The first try came after Phil Powell chose to kick for the corner and when Steve Christie won the resulting line out the ball was secured by the forwards and driven over the Witney line with Kieran McConnell emerging as the try scorer.

Witney's response was instant with two penalties coming either side of MK's Andrew White being shown a yellow card from tripping.

And Witney made their one man advantage count when their pack pressurised MK five metres from the line and bundled over for a converted try.

In an error prone game Witney's open side flanker was penalised for trying to slow MK's ball at the break down, so Powell was able to pull three back.

And minutes before half-time another MK penalty allowed Powell to kick them 13-11 ahead, which remained the score throughout the second half despite both teams showing good movement.

LEAGUE leaders Olney slipped to only their second defeat of the season when they travelled to Wallingford.

Wallingford, unbeaten at home since November 2005, went in front after five minutes with Richard Turner collecting a neat kick before diving over.

Olney captain David Smith gathered from a line out to get them on the score sheet, but second row Paul Lewis put Wallingford back in the lead on the 20th minute. Two penalties from the home side's fly-half stretched their lead to 16-7 at half-time.

Olney were able to narrow the deficit to 16-12 when Sutton collected after a charged down kick, but were unable to snatch a late win.

Pickering has the runs

CRAIG Pickering's dreams of reaching the World Indoor Championship have been dealt a huge blow after being forced to withdraw from the Birmingham Grand Prix.

The Milton Keynes sprinter was set to take part in the Norwich Union meeting last weekend but pulled out last-minute with illness.

Pickering's coach, Malcolm Arnold, said: "The doctor believes Craig has picked up a virus and is suffering from diarrhoea.

"It could also be a bout of food poisoning. He has been told to take a total rest. Now we have to hope that Craig is fit enough to run in Paris on Friday."

With Dwain Chambers already selected to represent Great Britain in the 60 metres in Valencia next month there is only one more spot up for grab.

Pickering was sat on the sidelines as his rival Simeon Williamson took his chance to impress sectors running a personal best in a photo-finish second-place at Sheffield.

Flying the flag: Dons' ex Swansea keeper Willy Gueret keeps his side in the match as he dives at the feet of Fabian Brandy – more pictures pages 98-99

MK Dons' chances of reaching the Johnston Paint Trophy final at Wembley were given a massive boost last night thanks to Jemal Johnson's 68th minute strike.

The Dons will now take a one-goal lead into the second-leg on Monday, February 25.

While Johnson's name was on the score sheet the real hero of the night was Dons' keeper Willy Gueret who returned to haunt his former club by pulling off a string of goal-stopping saves.

Thirty four-year-old Gueret was the busier of the two goalkeepers but laid down his marker in the first minute and continued in the same fantastic form throughout the 90 minutes.

The Dons were a little more shot-shy than usual, yet were able to convert a well-worked free-kick when it mattered to send League One leaders Swansea to their first defeat in eight games.

The Swans could, and perhaps should, have taken the lead in the first minute when Fabian Brandy ran onto a neat through ball from Paul Anderson for a one-on-one opportunity with Gueret.

But the former Swans keeper was off his line and quick to smoother the ball before Brandy had chance to shoot.

Brandy, who had made several dangerous runs, played his part in another chance for the home side.

The lively striker picked up the ball and, with nowhere to run, laid on for Kristian O'Leary but Gueret put a halt to his run.

The Dons' man between the sticks was called back into action moments later when Danny Swailes was unfortunate to see his block provide a spilt ball for Brandy to pounce on.

However Gueret, determined to show his old side just what they are missing without him, produced yet another carbon copy shot-stopper to once again deny Brandy.

Swansea, currently running away with League One, were forcing the Dons to weather the storm – not a familiar feeling for Paul Ince's side.

The movement forward was staggered and chances to test Swans' keeper Dorus de Vries were not forthcoming.

At the start of the second half the Dons played some smart passes in the middle of the park, yet they continued to lack the edge needed in the final third as Alan Navarro fired into the stands from inside the box.

With Ince on the sidelines the Dons were being urged to push up but Swansea were resilient in defence and fast on the counter-attack.

The intensity of the match went up a notch with tackles flying in as both sides looked to break the deadlock.

And it was the Dons who took the advantage with a training ground routine free-kick.

Keith Andrews opted for a quick, short tap to Johnson and the striker, playing on the wing in place of the injured Mark Wright, took a touch before firing a low drive from 25-yards into the bottom corner.

Moments later substitute Thomas Butler became the next Swans player to be frustrated by Gueret when his fierce strike was brilliantly saved by the Frenchman.The Dons appeared to grow in confidence after taking the lead. Navarro fancied his chances with a long range effort dipping just over the bar.

And Danny Swailes delighted the 576-strong travelling Dons crowd when he skipped down the left to beat a defender before his cross was fumbled by de Vries but the Swans' keeper recovered to stop Johnson's follow-up.
